Statement of Interest (Do not include personal information such as phone numbers, addresses, emails, etc.)

Growing up and learning in Alexandria has pushed me to become increasingly aware of how important equitable access is for young people and families. As a current sophomore at Alexander City High School, I am motivated to be involved in work that supports children, uplifts youth voices, and strengthens families throughout the city. I am especially interested in contributing to efforts that address disparities and ensure that all young people, regardless of background or income, are supported by systems that allow them to thrive. Serving on the children, youth, and families collaborative commission would allow me to take part in meaningful change that closely reflects my values and future goals. My involvement and student leadership has prepared me to contribute thoughtfully and responsibly to this work. As the secretary of my sophomore class, I collaborate with my peers and administrators, ensure our meetings are organized and run orderly, and every voice is heard. In addition I make sure that ideas are clearly documented and communicated. These responsibilities have strengthened my organizational skills, attention to detail, and my ability to represent a diverse student body. As a first generation student, I am very committed to equity and inclusion. I hope to bring new perspectives, along with dedication and curiosity to support the commission's mission and the broader Alexandria community.
