Statement of Interest

Dear Chair Edwards, I am excited to serve on the Children, Youth, and Families Collaborative Commission as a young adult representative. My work experience and educational background have one key throughline, pouring my effort and skills into helping local governments find novel solutions for community level issues. I firmly believe that the future is local, the actions we take as a community to care for our children, families, and most vulnerable will not only uplift our community today, but also ensure Alexandria is a place where people want to live and start families for decades to come. In my professional experience, I have immersed myself in education, youth development, and workforce development for educators. Beginning at the National League of Cities where I worked with local partners in Charlotte, NC to create a job training pipeline for early childhood educators, targeting home-based centers largely run by women of color to ensure they got the certifications and training they needed to operate legally and grow their businesses. As a Research Associate at the American Institutes for Research, I support technical assistance projects with state and local education agencies that focus on developing systems to ensure students with disabilities receive the services and education they deserve, evaluating early childhood programs, and helping state agencies deliver targeted services to families from marginalized communities. My educational background was in Environmental Policy, and the intersection of climate justice, early education, and community development energizes me to be involved with the Children, Youth, and Families Collaborative Commission. Since moving to Alexandria in 2022 I have come to love the city, and it's been apparent to me that Alexandria is a growing and increasingly prosperous city. However, all the prosperity and new development will be a meaningless prize if we do not ensure that we invest in all families and especially our young people. I have read the Commission's Children and Youth Master Plan 2025 and am excited to join the Commission in implementing the plans outlined there as well as bringing my own experiences and skills to crafting new programs serving Alexandria's young people and families.

Statement of Interest

I would be honored to serve on the commission for numerous reasons. Firstly, as someone who was raised by this city, I always look for any way to help and volunteer within my community. Alexandria has given me everything. From mentors, to friends who are now family, to opportunities that have helped mold me into the individual I am. Secondly, aside from my full time job as an intensive case manager for a nonprofit where I work with unaccompanied minors, I volunteer closely with a program named Youngins in Progress (YIP). Through my work with YIP I have been able to be present in the lives of young latino males who struggled in the education system. Through my work and dedication to them I have been able to engage myself more within the different communities in Alexandria from Chirilagua to my home base West end. I have been able to offer my voice to help advocate for the students and their families in needs that may not be met whether it be in school or in the community. This work led me to be nominated and selected as a 2023-2024 Champion of children through the CYFCC. I have been an active volunteer within my community since my days in Francis C. Hammond, and always encourage my mentees and students to do the same. I believe through serving in the commission I would be able to offer my personal and professional expertise. As well as help gather the voices of those who are currently within our communities. Especially those voices that may get lost by those who have the privilege of knowing how to use it.

Educational Background

TC Williams High School - 2017 James Madison University - BSW - 2021 Howard University - MSW - 2023

Summary of Work and Experience

Within the city, I have worked as an AVID tutor, EL temp in the EL office located in Central Office where I would help recently arrived families with the registration process, and as a substitute social worker for the International Academy. I was a Masters in Social Work intern for two years: my first year was with the Family and Engagement Center, and then under the Director of Social Work of ACPS where I was able to work with the International Academy, started my work with YIP by running the after school tutoring and adding a career exploration component. I currently work as an intensive case manager for United Methodist Family Services in their Caminos program. Alongside being an active volunteer for the YIP program, I also assist the EL registration office with home visits when needed to help get families registered into school faster.
