Statement of Interest/Why You Should Be Appointed

I would like to bring my personal and professional interests in Restorative Justice philosophy to this board. For me, restorative justice is about repairing harm, finding accountability through community involvement. I have worked with and volunteered with law enforcement in different capacities and have great respect for how hard it is to balance serving and protecting. Safe and vibrant communities need to build back trust with law enforcement in a way that is passed on to future generations and does not end with one grant program.

Interests & Experiences

Statement of Interest/Why You Should Be Appointed

My interest stems from a deep conviction that policing is a critically important, very difficult undertaking that is facing a number of challenges: shifting views of the role of police engagement with the community; a crisis of confidence among many constituents; decreasing interest in the profession among qualified candidates; and more. My interest is further grounded in my son's entering the profession (not in Alexandria). I believe I might be able to add value to this committee not by virtue of law enforcement background, but because I have deep experience in integrating the perspectives and concerns of diverse constituents to generate workable solutions. I've done this in my professional roles in large organizations (Capital One, Hershey, TD Ameritrade) as well as working with community organizations (Northern Virginia Chamber of Commerce, Fairfax County Education Foundation, Higher Achievement). I have both a deep respect for the police profession and a belief that it needs to evolve, and I think i could bring a balanced, seasoned perspectives to the difficult, nuanced issues the committee is likely to face.

Interests & Experiences

Statement of Interest/Why You Should Be Appointed

After the video of George Floyd's killing by a Minneapolis police officer, it ricocheted around the web igniting perhaps one of the largest social movements this country had ever seen. Millions of people from all backgrounds flooded streets in protest, encompassing their increasing intolerance for police brutality into a three-word viral hashtag: #BLM. This change of events applied even more pressure to accelerate the need for community policing review boards on a national level. I was pleased to learn that the City of Alexandria instituted an Independent Community Policing Review Board, especially with the discourse negatively widening between the citizenry and law enforcement throughout the country. Time has demonstrated that these committees have become an essential component to restoring the needed trust. Being a long-term resident, community advocate and retired federal executive law enforcement official, I am well-positioned to leverage the facets of my life to enhance citizen oversight to assist in fostering a synergistic relationship between community and the city's police department. Ironically, during a two-year period, the duality of understanding law enforcement and community challenges were at the forefront of my daily decision making. I balanced the pressures of leading IRS-Criminal Investigation 3,000-person law enforcement agency while serving as the then-T.C. Williams High School PTSA President. By day, I oversaw some of the country's most sensitive financial crimes investigations while fulfilling congressional and regulatory obligations. This journey enhanced my political savviness while allowing further development of the acumen required to handle sensitive, confidential matters to ensure justice for all stakeholders. Additionally, my responsibilities included serving on IRS' misconduct review board which recommends employee termination for acts of willful violations of tax laws. By night, I negotiated with the most engaging and well-informed citizens regarding the challenges of a 4,000-student high school wrought with socio-economic and political impediments which thwarted the school's full potential. Furthermore, with an increasing diverse student body, I took the initiative to develop strategies to ensure inclusion among the students and parents. This also included at times, articulating these strategies and obstacles to the city council and school board. I approached these assignments whole heartily and if selected, I plan to embrace this appointment with the same level of fervor and vigor that the city deserves. Lastly, as a minority, my conviction and passion towards ensuring racial and social inequities is mitigated is the essential driver to submitting my application. Thank you for your consideration.

We successfully advocated for bike lanes on Slater's Lane, King Street, and elsewhere, for the 2015 update to the bicycle and pedestrian transportation master plan. We were awarded the 2012 Ellen Pickering Award for Environmental Excellence. 2013-present Member Four Mile Run Joint Task Force Duties: I was appointed to represent the bicycling community on this community task force. This group advises both Alexandria and Arlington city staff in relation to the Four Mile Run stream restoration project. Most recently, I advocated to keep two bridges over Four Mile Run, at West Glebe and at Mt Vernon Ave, open to people walking, bicycling, scootering, etc., during bridge reconstruction. 2016 - present Steering Committee member and Communications Team leader, Grassroots Alexandria Grassroots Alexandria works in teams. In 2017-18, our Anti-Fascism Team, jointly with members of Christ Church, led twice-monthly protests, rain or shine, at the home of prominent white nationalist Richard Spencer. Our Vulnerable Communities Team worked with Tenants and Workers United and NAACP Alexandria to obtain a policy on police data transparency (that was never fully implemented). This same team, again working with TWU, advocated to end the agreement between Alexandria and ICE (Immigration and Customs Enforcement) that has led to undocumented Alexandrians being deported based on minor offenses. We have also advocated for restorative practices as an alternative to punishment (both in and out of schools), for universal healthcare, for transportation equity, and for affordable housing.
