Interests & Experiences

Statement of Interest/Why You Should Be Appointed

As we move towards the future, women will increasingly lead our nation. Women, for example, complete high school and undergraduate degrees at a much higher rate than men. According to the National Center for Education Statistics: In 1972, men completed undergraduate degrees at a 12% higher rate than women; By 1982, the undergraduate completion gap between men and women was even; and By 2019, women led men by 14% in completing undergraduate degrees. While I am aware that people can make a decent living without graduating college, studies show those who complete undergraduate degrees have better long-term earning potential. I did not address the gap in graduate higher education degree completion between men and women as it is much starker. Women will also be a larger part of the workforce in our nation's future. In April 2021, the federal Bureau of Labor Statistics reported that 69% and 57% of men and women, respectively, participate in our nation's workforce. The educational gap I mentioned above will most certainly also change the workforce participation ratio between men and women. Men need to be a strong advocate for women. I have helped several women get elected to public office. Women are Alexandria and our Nation's future.

Statement of Interest/Why You Should Be Appointed

I have recently become exposed to a growing negative bent towards women through my brother trying to tell me that there is no gender pay gap. I feel like there is upsetting information being pushed via online sources that is skewing the perceptions of men about women and our role in society. I think the recent Supreme Court rulings are evidence that women need more agency and support to continue a pathway to equality.
