Statement of Interest (Do not include personal information such as phone numbers, addresses, emails, etc.)

As a long-time Alexandria resident and a 2019 Chamber of Commerce '40 under 40' honoree, I am eager to leverage my professional background in strategic communications and public affairs to serve on the Budget and Fiscal Affairs Advisory Committee (BFAAC). Through my work as a principal at Cooley Public Strategies and my involvement with Leadership Alexandria, I have spent nearly two decades helping organizations navigate complex fiscal landscapes and transformative change management. Whether managing seven-figure inaugural budgets or advising nonprofits through mission-critical reorganizations, I have learned that a budget is more than just a spreadsheet—it is a statement of community values. I am particularly motivated to fill the Chamber's seat because I believe the business community is a vital partner in ensuring Alexandria remains a fiscally resilient, transparent, and vibrant place to live and work. The BFAAC's FY 2026/2027 work plan aligns perfectly with my expertise in demystifying intricate policy issues for the public. I am especially interested in contributing to the "Budget 101" educational series (Memo #5); my career has been defined by translating technical data—from clean energy initiatives to healthcare recruitment—into transparent, actionable narratives that resonate with diverse stakeholders. Furthermore, my experience in developing decision-making rubrics and outreach strategies for large-scale public affairs campaigns mirrors the goals of Memo #4. I look forward to helping the Council develop the tools and communication strategies necessary to navigate difficult budget trade-offs with clarity and integrity, ensuring that Alexandria's fiscal planning is both rigorous and accessible to every resident.

Statement of Interest (Do not include personal information such as phone numbers, addresses, emails, etc.)

Statement of Interest for Appointment to Waterfront Commission April, 2026 Ivy Whitlatch There are multiple reasons why I am interested and ready to serve on the Waterfront Commission as the representative from the Alexandria Archaeological Commission. First and foremost, the Alexandria Archaeology Museum and department are housed in the Torpedo Factory Art Center, one of the key defining locations on the waterfront. As the Chair of the Alexandria Archaeological Commission, we are keenly aware that preserving that structure as a focal point of art and culture on the waterfront is critical. Second, and also critically important for the Archaeological Commission, is the anticipated return in 2028 of the conserved ship hull found at the Hotel Indigo site in 2015. The Archaeological Commission believes that exhibiting the ship hull and the story of Alexandria's waterfront needs to find a home on the waterfront and I want to work with the Waterfront Commission to find the best location for the city of Alexandria. Lastly, as the precursor to any development along the waterfront, archaeology plays a city mandated role in the continued understanding of Alexandria's past. Presenting that past is what makes Alexandria unique and is the foundation for heritage tourism that supports so many businesses and services along the waterfront.
