Statement of Interest

I am writing to express my strong interest in serving on the City of Alexandria Information Technology Commission. As an Alexandria resident with a professional background in technology strategy, government contracting, and strategic communications, I am eager to contribute my expertise to advancing IT initiatives in ways that support efficiency, security, transparency, and community access for all Alexandrians. My commitment to service is deeply rooted in my weekly work with the Alexandria Community Shelter (ACS), where I deliver homemade meals for 45 residents on Saturday evenings and assist with meal preparation and food service on Sunday evenings. In this effort, I watch as diverse people from all walks of life work hard to polish their resumes, job search, prepare for interviews, and search for permanent housing. My experience with ACS has opened my eyes to the profound need to expand access to technology resources across the community – especially in support of critical services such as housing, rehabilitation, and social programs. For me, it is vital that diverse populations—particularly our most vulnerable neighbors—are treated with respect, dignity, and love, and that technology be leveraged as a tool to connect them to resources, opportunities, and a pathway to stability. Professionally, I bring expertise in technology strategy and government contracting, having worked with organizations such as Palantir Technologies and Swoop Technologies to align emerging digital solutions with mission needs. In these roles, I have bridged the gap between complex technical capabilities and practical implementation pathways, a skill set I believe is equally critical in helping Alexandria modernize its IT infrastructure while ensuring residents can easily and securely access city services. I hold a Master of Business Administration from George Mason University and a B.A. in English from the University of Tennessee. My academic and professional journey has consistently centered on translating strategy and technology into impactful outcomes, whether for the federal government, industry, or my own community. It would be a privilege to serve on the Commission and contribute to ensuring Alexandria’s IT systems and policies are forward-looking, inclusive, and rooted in the values of transparency and accessibility. I am particularly motivated by the opportunity to help Alexandria harness technology in ways that strengthen public trust and improve quality of life for every resident. Thank you for your consideration.

Have you ever served the City of Alexandria in any capacity?

Statement of Interest
I'm deeply invested in the Alexandria community and would be honored to serve in a citizen role on the Commission on Information Technology. With professional experience in modern technology platforms, payment systems, system integration, and user experience, I'm especially passionate about advancing a unified digital portal where residents can easily access services, make payments, track civic engagement, and manage their interactions with the City—what I envision as a "Citizen SnapShot." I'm also eager to support the Commission's goal to identify emerging technologies that could enhance the delivery of city services, assess their potential, and evaluate the resources or legislative adjustments needed for successful adoption.
