Statement of Interest/Why You Should Be Appointed

The satellite based US Global Positioning System (GPS) is used extensively (and exclusively by some) providing precision position and navigation and precise timing signal data to our networks and frontline/end user devices. I recently retired from federal civil service serving as the U.S. Department of Homeland Security policy advisor to the interagency Space-Based PNT Executive Committee, the national office, and various work groups advocating operational resilience in our nation's critical infrastructure reliant upon GPS including the Transportation Systems sector. Also for the past 15 years, I have been near daily commuter of the public transportation system from Alexandria to the Department of Commerce building in Washington.

SUMMARY OF WORK AND PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE (Please list titles and duties for the past five years):

Robert Crane is a Homeland Security/PNT Resilience Professional and an Adjunct Professor, advocating for the operational resilience of our critical infrastructure. Mr. Crane is a resident of the City of Alexandria and since 2003 a homeowner in Marina Towers (501 Slaters Lane) located in North Old Town. On August 29, 2020, Mr. Crane retired from federal civil service. From 2005 to 2020, Mr. Crane served as the Position, Navigation and Timing (PNT) Resilience Advisor to the Office of Chief Information Officer of the U.S. Department of Homeland Security. Mr. Crane was responsible for coordinating and aligning national policy on space, the U.S. Global Positioning System (GPS), complementary PNT capabilities, and civil use of time and location-based services, technologies, applications and data with the geospatial intelligence, information sharing, infrastructure protection, space, cybersecurity, and resilience strategies of the Department. Assignment included serving as the senior homeland security advisor/liaison to the Space-Based PNT Executive Committee, co-chaired by the Deputy Secretaries of Transportation and Defense, and the interagency National Coordination Office, located at the Department of Commerce. Previous assignments included deputy director of the DHS national security systems program, advisor to the U. S. Coast Guard and the DHS on the maritime information sharing environment, and Commander in the Coast Guard Reserve. Commander Crane held a number of active duty senior officer positions in the marine transportation system, maritime homeland defense, readiness and contingency planning, and workforce management prior to his retirement in 2004 after 26 years of military service. Mr. Crane has private sector experience in transportation, financial services, oil & gas, and agriculture sectors. Mr. Crane holds a B.S., a M.B.A., business continuity credentials through the Disaster Recovery Institute International, and membership in the Institute of Navigation, International Association of Emergency Managers, the Association of Contingency Planners, and Reserve Officers Association. Since 2007, Professor Crane continues to develop and deliver online undergraduate and graduate courses on Business Continuity, Critical Infrastructure Resilience, and Crisis Management for the School of Public Services at the University of Central Missouri's Harmon College of Business and Professional Studies.

This and other fields have repeatedly rejected/deleted text and the file is not being saved/accessible via the link emailed to me. Further, I am unable to get my resume to upload as either a word or pdf document. With that, I will cut and paste text here and presume you will judge my knowledge and experience with an eye to complementing the current make up of the committee. The principal of KAG Strategic Advisory, KellyAnne Gallagher is a public transportation policy professional and a strategic advisor to industry leaders. With more than 20 years serving across industry sectors - agency, association, and consulting – she has charted a uniquely impactful career in public transportation. Gallagher founded the Commuter Rail Coalition in 2019, and currently serves as the organization's Executive Director. In this role, she is shaping policy and driving the agenda of the association, which serves as the singular voice of the commuter rail industry. Consequently, Railway Age magazine recognized KellyAnne as one of 2020's most influential leaders in rail. Previously, Gallagher was a member of the NY Metropolitan Transportation Authority's senior leadership team. While at the MTA – the largest public transportation agency in North America - she led the Authority's federal regulatory interests across all transportation modes, identified strategic direction and liaised with the US Department of Transportation. In addition, she partnered with US "legacy" transportation agencies as well as international agencies and associations to facilitate the exchange of best practices and strengthened the Authority's capacity for benchmarking. Representing the MTA, Gallagher served on the FRA's Rail Safety Advisory Committee, the National Association of City Transportation Officials, the Metropolitan Rail Discussion Group, on the executive board of the Association of American Railroads' (AAR) affiliate members, and the research advisory board at Transportation Technology Center in Pueblo, Colorado. Gallagher joined the MTA after 16 years at the American Public Transportation Association. There, she cultivated and nurtured strategic industry relationships across domestic and international transportation sectors, executed operational oversight for 13 member-constituted committees, and led a team of 15 that developed and delivered educational content to the industry. In 2012 Metro Magazine profiled her in their annual Women in Transportation feature.

Interests & Experiences

Statement of Interest/Why You Should Be Appointed

To Whom it May Concern: Transportation is a passion of mine, particularly in today's multi-modal society where access to transportation is as ubiquitous as it is unequal. I recently moved to Alexandria after spending 8 years in Washington, D.C. and 5 years in San Francisco, CA. I live on N Patrick Street in the Parker Gray / Braddock area and have a front row seat to some of the busiest areas of Old Town. Prior to the pandemic I was a frequent user of public transportation and bike lane infrastructure, so I recognize first hand how important transportation options are to the community. I currently work at Waze, a navigation app, which exemplifies my passion for transportation. My role at Waze has given me a breadth of experience working with public transportation organizations and traffic data to make informed decisions about their roads & infrastructure. I would love the opportunity to apply my experience to my local community, especially given the challenges presented by the COVID-19 pandemic. It would be a humble privilege to serve my community on the Alexandria Transportation Commission. I would be a dedicated member and would work hard with other commissioners to ensure transportation decisions in the city are made thoughtfully and responsibly. I appreciate your consideration.

Interests & Experiences

Statement of Interest/Why You Should Be Appointed

As a resident of Alexandria for almost 19 years, I have great interest in ensuring that the City of Alexandria implements a feasible and forward looking transportation strategy that ensures residents and workers, regardless of economic means, have a broad spectrum of options available and that makes the most sense from a fiscal, technological and regional perspective. As a long-time resident, I am a regular user of all the city's transportation modes – from leveraging the metro and bus, to running and riding my bike on the city's many pedestrian and bicycle paths, to assisting my wheelchair bound mother conduct her errands by car, I am very familiar with the city's transportation modes and challenges. During my first term on the Transportation Commission, we worked closely with T&ES staff and the community, providing input and helping to develop a wide range of plans impacting the City from the Alexandria Mobility Plan (AMP) to Vision Zero to the City's Long Range Transportation Strategy to reimagining the DASH network. I feel I have been able to leverage my experience working on transportation and sustainability policy along with my knowledge of the City to provide value and expertise to the group. Further, my representation on the Potomac Yard Metro Implementation Group (PYMIG) has been both challenging and rewarding as the project has made great strides over the last year and is on track for a 2022 completion - a major accomplishment and one of the City's most important projects in decades. The coming period promises to be an extremely challenging one for the City of Alexandria and its Transportation Commission. I am ready for the challenge and believe I can continue to serve the City in this important capacity. Thanks for your consideration, Bruce R Marsh

The opportunity to make things better. As a citizen of Alexandria since 1998, as the father of two young children, and as a transportation professional, I would like to contribute my personal and professional experience to the Transportation Commission. While I feel the City has done a very good job overall, I believe there are more opportunities for transportation improvements that could benefit all citizens: improving mobility, safety, access to services, and efficiency. I understand there are different viewpoints across the City on our transportation future. I feel I have the experience and the perspective to work with fellow citizens with disparate viewpoints towards consensus on what our City's future should be like.
